

1st Generation

1. Michael GRASSHAM. He married Eliz Unknown.

It is estimated that Michael Grassham was born in about 1750 in Tealby, England. There were about 200 people living in Tealby in 1085 according to the Domesday Census. From the early 17th Century until about 1830, Tealby was known for paper making. Michael was a paper maker until his bankruptcy in 1799.

At this time, the only known child of Michael GRASSHAM and Eliz was:

2. Thomas GRASHAM was born February 27, 1771 in Tealby, England and died March 2, 1865.

The following is from the history of Tealby, Lincolnshire, England:

Tealby, population 530, is a village in England nestling in the western lee of the Lincolnshire Wolds. Stone cottages sit astride the tumbling upper reaches of the River Rase, which centuries ago powered several water mills - one still exists and works - for milling and paper making.

The old farm buildings belonging to Tealby Vale, formerly the home of Michael Grassham, a papermaker, have now been sympathetically developed into holiday cottages. The village has two pubs, one thatched and said to date back to 1367.

A Michael Grassham of Tealby, England went bankrupt: on Jan. 8, 1799
